

LEAFLET II — THE VIOLET ROSE

Vocatio Omnium Civium Dei – Calling All Citizens of God
2025

It is nearly impossible to reason with ideologies built not on truth, but on fear, myth, and power. What passes for "moral conviction" in this moment is too often a costume—crafted by propaganda, sewn with grievance, and worn by those more loyal to control than to conscience.

Movements that weaponize religion and nationalism are not new. They do not evolve—they repeat. Their first allegiance is not to God, or neighbor, or justice, but to their own preservation. From the start, they depend on betrayal—of truth, of fellow citizens, of basic decency. They thrive in disinformation and punish those who question.

If this feels familiar, it should.

We must be clear: what we are facing is not a political debate, but a spiritual crisis—a culture that rewards cruelty and mocks mercy, that replaces faith with force, and calls power "blessing."

When a leader tells you not to trust what you see or hear—listen carefully. They are not asking for loyalty. They are asking for surrender. Remember what was said not long ago: "What you're seeing and what you're reading is not what's happening." That is not leadership. That is manipulation. That is Gaslighting, not leadership.

And manipulation is always a prelude to harm.

Still—many will not resist. Not because they agree, but because resistance feels costly. It threatens comfort. It draws fire. It risks misunderstanding. But silence in such a moment is not neutrality—it is permission.

We ask you now to choose differently.

Speak. Share. Shine light.

You may not have power, but you still have voice—and in times like these, voice is everything.

Make no mistake: this resistance will be mocked. You will be told you are foolish, dramatic, divisive. But that is always said by those most invested in keeping their place in the system.

So speak anyway.

- Refuse to normalize cruelty.
- Refuse to spiritualize injustice.
- Refuse to make peace with lies.

We are not affiliated with any party, movement, or ideology. We do not serve a platform. We serve the call of conscience.

We are not many—but we are enough.

Print. Share. Leave these where silence has grown too loud.

The Violet Rose will not leave you in peace.

James Baldwin once said:

“Not everything that is faced can be changed. But nothing can be changed until it is faced.”

And Frederick Douglass warned:

“Find out just what any people will quietly submit to and you have found out the exact measure of injustice and wrong which will be imposed upon them.”

Spread this message.
Not in violence, but in vision.
Not in fear, but in truth.

We are The Violet Rose.
And we will not be silent.
